SHANNON FARRINGTON NAMED 2016 CFO OF THE YEAR

Healthcare Veteran Receives Honor from the Nashville Business Journal

BRENTWOOD, Tenn. – October 11, 2016 – Premise Health, a leading worksite health and patient engagement company, congratulates Chief Financial Officer Shannon Farrington for being recognized at the 2016 CFO Awards by the Nashville Business Journal as the CFO of the Year for the large, private company category.

CFO Awards honorees were nominated by the community, then scored based on a variety of criteria by a panel of judges comprised of past winners. This year's finalists were announced in September, with the final winners for each category revealed Oct. 4.

"I'm honored to be recognized in this manner by the business community," Farrington said. "It's a privilege to be part of a team that is changing the way healthcare is delivered – this award is a reflection of our collective efforts and of our team's hard work and dedication. We've achieved much together, and I know we will continue to pursue new ways to serve our clients and patients."

With more than 20 years of experience in onsite healthcare services Farrington has earned a reputation for expert financial management, strategic vision, and exceptional leadership. At Premise Health, she has played a vital role in strategic planning, and has led Premise's efforts in the recent acquisitions of IMWell Health and TransformHealthRx.

Prior to joining Premise Health, Shannon oversaw the launch of her own business, W Squared, which provided outsourced business solutions for small and mid-sized companies. She served as CEO from the organization's inception, working closely with companies in healthcare and technology industries to create scalable platforms for growth.

"Throughout her career, Shannon has demonstrated that she is a strategic thinker and strong financial leader," said Stu Clark, CEO of Premise Health. "Her ability to see every obstacle as an opportunity has been essential to our organization's ability to grow and innovate over the past three years, and we are honored to have her recognized in this way."
